

What is the Children's Long-Term Support (CLTS) Medicaid Waiver?

Wisconsin's Children's Long-Term Support Waiver Program makes Medicaid funding available to support children with substantial limitations due to developmental, physical, or severe emotional disabilities who are living at home or in the community. Funding may be used to support a range of services based on an assessment of your child's and family's specific needs and identified goals or outcomes.

What possible services do the CLTS Medicaid Waivers pay for?

The CLTS Waivers cover a broad range of services, depending on a child's and family's identified needs. Some examples of possible services include:

- Adaptive aids
- Service coordination
- Communication aids
- Daily living skills training
- Day services
- Respite
- Home modifications
- Supportive home care

What is the role of the County Waiver Agency?

Rock County's role is to assist families and children in the initial application process and service coordination when a child is receiving CLTS Waiver services. This includes working with the family to develop an Individualized Service Plan (ISP) that will include the services and supports that are needed to address the child and family's unique needs. Service coordinators continue to work with children and their families to assure that all needs are being met over time and under changing circumstances.

What is the role of the family?

You and your child are encouraged to voice your thoughts, concerns, and ideas at every step to help develop the Individual Service Plan (ISP). The ISP is the unique plan of supports and services for your child and family.

Parents are assessed a parental fee which contributes towards the cost of services. The fee is calculated based on household income and services utilized.

Who is eligible for the CLTS Waivers?

CLTS is available to children and youth under the age of 22 who have a developmental disability, physical disability, or severe emotional disability.

CLTS is available in all counties across Wisconsin.
